Vellux Paging System

The Vellux paging system has been a great investment for us. Our restaurant is not the usual set up of an open plan layout. We have five various rooms in which we accommodate our guests. This makes it very difficult to control and for customers to be in constant contact with their waiter.

This system takes a lot of pressure off the manager on duty knowing that they can monitor the pager and have the peace of mind to be called should a table have a problem. Our system is also connected to the kitchen and waiters are called as soon as their food is ready. Therefore the customer receives their food while it is still hot and fresh.

The Vellux paging system is very neat and tidy, with no cables having to be run, making it a pleasure to work with.
